GUAR MARKET SNAPSHOT : Week of March 16th, 2026

As reported by the Oil industry Oil markets are set to post their fifth consecutive weekly gain Whilst the Trump administration has sought to defuse market concerns using any means available – waiving the Jones Act, easing Russian sanctions further or de-sanctioning Iranian oil on water – the main thing defining the market's bullishness is that the Strait of Hormuz remains firmly shut, marking three full weeks of no navigation in the world's main energy chokepoint. Brent Crude closed at around US$110/- up from around US$104/- at the beginning of the week. On the other hand WTI closed at around US$98/- down from around US$101/- for the corresponding period.

The price movement since April 1st 2025 till date was as follows

The market continues directionless and is seemingly dormant. The Guar Splits rates have levelled off between Rs.100/Kg to Rs.105/Kg for the moment.

The demand from the food and oil drilling sectors is spread out till now, with no spike in the demand pattern but there has definitely been a gradual overall increase.

Shipments from India to Europe and America have been effected as vessels are unable to meet their schedules. Please also see our detailed assessment uploaded separately as Market Update on Supply Chain Disruptions due to Middle East Conflict.

The shipments to the Asia Pacific regions have not been effected as yet except for some minor delays.

What other fallouts are there we will have to wait and see as the situation develops.

Nothing can be forecasted about the Guar market for sure. The market is controlled by speculators/traders.
